ALA American Library Association

Dear Library Director:

Since 2006 the American Library Association, with support from the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation, has conducted a national survey of public library public access funding and technology. The survey builds on previous studies conducted since 1994 by Drs. John Carlo Bertot of the Center for Library Innovation at the University of Maryland and Charles R. McClure of the Information Use Management and Policy Institute at Florida State University. We thank you for your participation in the past, and hope that you will continue to participate in these important surveys. More information regarding the overall project is available at <http://www.ala.org/plinternetfunding>.

The data from the enhanced study will help you plan or improve technology and service deployment, and identify the impacts of your library's public computer and Internet access on the community your library serves. The survey narrative and data also support you in efforts to inform and educate stakeholders – policymakers, funders, elected officials, supporters and the media – at the local, state and national levels about the issues and needs your library faces in providing public computer and Internet access services and resources. Additional information regarding this and previous studies is available at <http://www.ii.fsu.edu/plinternet>.

Included in this packet are the instructions for completing the online survey and a print copy of the survey for your review. Please call or e-mail the Information Institute at Florida State University at (850) 645-2197 or <support@plinternetsurvey.org> with any questions you might have regarding the survey.

PLEASE COMPLETE THE QUESTIONNAIRE(S) by November 7, 2008.

This is a very important study. Over the years the American Library Association, state library agencies and others have used the findings to inform debates regarding public access to the Internet in libraries, support for the E-rate and LSTA, and other initiatives through Congressional testimony and advocacy efforts on behalf of libraries. We greatly appreciate your participation and look forward to sharing the results of the survey and additional research by summer 2009.

Kind Regards,

Keith Fiels
Executive Director

2008 National Survey of Public Library Funding and Technology Access

The American Library Association (ALA) and the Information Use Management and Policy Institute in the College of Information at Florida State University, with support from the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation, are surveying a national sample of public libraries regarding their Internet connectivity, computing resources, and technology funding. Ms. Denise M. Davis and Ms. Larra Clark (ALA Office of Research and Statistics), Dr. John Carlo Bertot (Center for Library Innovation at the University of Maryland), and Dr. Charles R. McClure (Information Institute at Florida State University) are the study managers. You may access the survey at <http://www.plinternetsurvey.org>.

The survey Web site provides specific instructions for completing the Web survey. The survey contains questions about specific library system branches, as well as system-wide questions. We realize that public libraries in each state are organized differently and that the term “system” can mean something different from state to state. By system we mean the central authority for the library – that is, the entity that makes budget decisions, applies for E-rate, and makes other management decisions. We do not use the term “system” to mean regional cooperatives or other forms of federated libraries. If your library system has branches, you may be asked to complete questions regarding some of your branches prior to answering questions about your entire system. By branch, we mean a building that is open to the public and provides services to the community (e.g., lends books, offers public access to the Internet and computers, other). Your library and the branches selected to participate (if applicable) were selected randomly. If you wish to complete the survey for the additional branches in your system (again, if applicable), you will be given the opportunity to do so. IMPORTANT: To facilitate completion of the Web-based survey, the branch and system questions are presented separately. PLEASE COMPLETE BOTH PARTS OF THE SURVEY. A glossary of key terms is available beginning on page 15 and on the survey Web site.

Complete the survey, and enter to win an Amazon Kindle

To participate in the 2008 study, please go to <http://www.plinternetsurvey.org> and follow the “Complete Survey” button. You will need to enter your library’s survey ID number (located on the back of the survey form). The survey ID number has a total of two letters followed by four numbers, and is your FSCS library number as assigned by the state library. If you cannot remember and/or locate your library’s survey ID number, the survey Web site provides a link to locate your library ID by state and city. If you prefer, you may complete this print version of the survey and mail/fax your responses back (the contact information is located at the end of the survey).

The survey is not timed. You may complete part of it, save your answers, and return to it at a later time. You may also answer part of the survey and have other members of your library staff answer other parts, if appropriate. Please be sure to complete the survey by November 7, 2008. Once completed, you will be able to print or save the answers you provided and keep a copy for your own records.

If you have any questions or issues regarding the survey, please call (850) 645-2197 or e-mail support@plinternetsurvey.org.
